

A topographic map of the Waterville, Maine area. The map uses a color gradient where green represents lower elevations and yellow/tan represents higher elevations. A network of blue lines represents the river system, with a major river flowing from the upper left towards the bottom left. Numerous smaller blue shapes represent lakes and ponds scattered across the landscape. The terrain appears rugged with many small hills and valleys.

● Waterville